THE GENEVA ACADEMY OF INTERNATIONAL HUMANITARIAN LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Jointly established in 2007 by the Faculty of Law of the University of Geneva and by the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies (IHEID), the Academy is the successor of the University Centre for International Humanitarian Law. The University of Lausanne, the International Committee of the Red Cross, the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, and the Swiss Federal Department of Foreign Affairs all contribute to achieving the objectives of the Academy.

The Academy provides post-graduate teaching in English and French, conducts academic legal research, undertakes policy studies, and organizes training courses and expert meetings. The Academy concentrates on the branches of international law applicable in times of armed conflict.

Executive Master in International Law in Armed Conflict (LL.M)

The Executive Master programme covers international law in armed conflict. The Master is aimed at professionals (diplomats, practising lawyers, corporate counsel, journalists, legal advisers to states, as well as those working for international organizations and NGOs). The programme enables professionals to acquire a comprehensive knowledge of the rules of international law applicable to armed conflicts and other emergencies.

The Executive Master of Advanced Studies in International Law in Armed Conflict (60 ECTS credits) is delivered jointly by the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies and the University of Geneva. It is equivalent to an LL.M.

Our programme will enable you to:

- Acquire specialized knowledge concerning the legal framework applicable to armed conflicts and other emergencies
- Develop legal skills relevant to different complex situations
- Enhance your appreciation of the options and strategies available with regard to protection and prosecution in times of armed violence
- Learn how to deal with the past after armed violence
