

Vendredi 30 novembre 2018
CMU - Auditoire J.-L. Reverdin (B02.2526)

MINI SYMPOSIUM Eccellenza 2019

9h00: Alberto de Iaco, EPFL

Regulation of zygotic transcription in placental mammals

9h30: Simon Braun, Stanford University

Epigenome Editing to Study Chromatin Dynamics in Stem Cells

10h00: Nicolas Personnic, University of Zürich

Phenotypic heterogeneity: a new way into microbial eco-pathology

10h30: Michael Zimmermann, Yale University

Harnessing variation in the gut microbiota for personalized medical treatment

11h00: Ariana Calcinotto, Institute of Oncology Research, Bellinzona

Accessories to the crime: functions of immune cells in the tumor microenvironment

11h30: Simone Becattini, Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center

Harnessing the gut microbiota to fight diseases

14h00: Boris Gencer, Harvard Medical School

Lipid management in acute myocardial infarction: should we go lower faster?

14h30: Pierre Mégevand, NEUFO, University of Geneva Faculty of Medicine & HUG

Neuronal assemblies in the pathophysiology of epilepsy

15h00: Lampros Perogamvros, NEUFO, University of Geneva Faculty of Medicine & HUG

Therapeutic use of sleep and dreaming in psychiatric disorders